Swallows are the popular bird in Vermont this season.—Brandon Union.

And schooners have the first call when it comes to navigation, even if Vermont is an inland state.

When the Filipino takes the oath of allegiance to the United States it means about as much to him as does his almost daily laughter of Americans. It means nothing.

The Hardwick Gazette claims to have the secret of the opening of legalized saloons in Barre and is willing to let the secret out, which is, that Barre was so wanted to the saloon before, that the mere legalizing of it made no difference. That has been a suspicion in the minds of a good many.

Russia announced to the United States a short time ago that her appearance in Manchuria had no sinister meaning. Meanwhile Russia went on strengthening her fortifications and garrisoning them with Russian troops. Now the announcement is made that the Bear has seized a prominent port. Manifestly little reliance is to be placed in the promises of the Czar of Russia.

Shipload after shipload of immigrants are pouring into the ports of the United States daily and it is the great wonder what becomes of all of them. As Mrs. Mary Livermore said in her lecture in this city Thursday evening, there are eight or more vessels now on the way to Boston, each carrying 1,000 immigrants. They land at Boston, some are met by friends and in almost no time at all they are scattered. Mrs. Livermore confessed that she did not know what becomes of them. The most plausible accounting, and the accounting is also borne out by statistics, is that a large part of these immigrants are spreading out into the more thinly settled sections of the country and are reclaiming the farms which have long since been deserted by their former Yankee owners. Gradually the Yankee farmer is being superseded by the immigrant farmer. This condition is more noticeable in the states which are more closely connected with the seacoast. But even in Vermont it is easy to see that the farmer is as often of foreign birth as he is of native birth. Clarence Deming writing in the Independent says: "Swedes, Italians, German and Irishmen are beginning to reclaim these old farms, and they are doing well on them by enduring the same sort of privations and practicing the same economies which were incidents of the Yankee farming of the old days." Mr. Deming further says that the task of regeneration of the New England farm will be slow and painful, and naturally there will be dread of the new comers as aliens in race and habits. There will be many reactions and readjustments as the old blood flows out and the new blood flows in, and an extensive material uplift of the farm, wrought out by muscle, brain work and rigid self denial, must precede the refinements and virtues of the new composite farm race. Mr. Deming thinks, however, that the satisfactory development will come in the end.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Colton of Montpelier quietly celebrated the 40th anniversary of their marriage May 7.

The annual meeting of the Vermont Homeopathic Medical Society, which was called for next Wednesday and Thursday at Montpelier, has been postponed one week, until May 20 and 21.

Up to this time it has appeared that Montpelier was leading the procession in the matter of convictions for intoxication, but at last the capitol city must yield the place to Rutland, for there a record of 27 in six days has been made.—Montpelier Journal.

The New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. has a gang of men at work laying an underground 10 pair cable on Montpelier ave., Bennington, for telephone use exclusively. While some of the workmen were excavating they turned up a stone arrowhead in a perfect state of preservation and several old English pennies coined before the revolution.

New Books.

Simms' Child Literature. By May Henyon Simms. Cloth, 12mo, 144 pages, with illustrations. Price, 30 cents. American Book Company, New York, Cincinnati and Chicago. This is the latest addition to the well-known and popular series of Eclectic School Readings, and is intended for First Reader grades. Its distinctive feature consists in its method of presenting attractive nursery rhymes and stories, popular poems, and Bible stories, simplified and told in short easy words. The rhymes are afterward repeated in their original form. New words are naturally and gradually introduced, and the graduation of the matter is easy and well maintained throughout. The book is profusely illustrated, and will be welcomed by the many teachers who feel the need of fresh and interesting reading matter for younger pupils.

Winterburn's The Spanish in the Southwest. By Rosa V. Winterburn. Cloth, 12 mo, 224 pages. Illustrated. Price, 55 cents. American Book Company, New York, Cincinnati and Chicago. From the simplicity of the Indians, through the biographies of the Spanish explorers and the indulgence of their occupation, this little supplementary reader carries us down to the American occupation of California. The book is a story of history, a collection of stories so selected and arranged as to present historical characteristics and tendencies. The narrative, while furnishing much useful information, is simple in its style and attractive in its subject-matter. At the end of each chapter are suggestive questions for review. The illustrations are numerous and artistic. This is one of the series of Eclectic School Readings.

THE YACHTS.

Every departure from the conventional in the designing of yachts is an experiment. The proof of the capabilities of a racing machine is in the sailing thereof.—Philadelphia Record.

In many respects the competing yachts this year will represent new ideas, but in the particular of breadth of beam they will show the extreme development of opposed theories.—Philadelphia Ledger.

It may be that Sir Thomas Lipton will again fall to "lift that cup," but in one way he has beaten us already. His boat, the third to bear the title of Shamrock, is launched, while our own defender is still in the hands of the builders.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

In Manchuria.

The bear has thrown the dragon down And spreads his jaws to bite; The screaming eagle whirled aloft In puzzled, angry flight; The maddest lion stalks around In an uncertain way, While all of them look to the sun For an enlight'ning ray.

In olden time there was a tale Of how the sun's mild beam Had more of power in itself Than at the first did seem. The fierce wind could not from a man Remove his coat so warm, But soon the sun made him decide To shift it to his arm.

There's some of this in Manchoo land; That's why the eagle soars, And that's why round the Russian bear The lion stalks and roars. The eagle and the lion are The strength of Japan's sun; Resistance now from yellow Sol Means that the bear must run.

For, if he stops to argue long, The air will grow so hot He'll wish that he were far away In his cool, native spot. And ere he does make sore escape Whence greed caused him to roam The bear, unlike the man, may have No coat to carry home. —George Owen Koch in New York Times.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

An Insatiation. Bess—Young Miskins is daffy on the subject of matrimony. He asks every girl he meets to marry him. Nell—Well, why don't you get some one to introduce you?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

It's Different Then. "A woman will buy a thing just because it's cheap." "Perhaps. But she doesn't make selections on that principle when a man is footing the bill."—Chicago Post.

A Missing Ingredient. The Romans had great circuses, Historians declare. It's hard to see How this could be. They had no peanuts there. —Denver News.

OPENING

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Union Clothing Co.,

Old Skating Rink, Opp. Depot Square,

Formerly occupied by the Combination Cash Store, will throw its doors open to the public on Saturday, May 9th, at 8 A. M.,

With the newest, largest and most complete line of MEN'S, BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S READY-TO-WEAR

Spring and Summer Clothing

FURNISHING GOODS, SHOES, etc., that can be found in this county. Sad to say, about seven weeks ago we were awakened by the sound of the fire alarm and soon found that our store, then known as the UNION CLOTHING STORE, situated in the Currier Building, was on fire, and despite every effort to save our stock of goods they all went up in smoke. But we determined to reopen as soon as circumstances would allow, and we have spared no time, money or labor in securing another store. We have succeeded in leasing this store for a term of years, and have made many alterations and repairs on the same to make it suitable for our business. We now have a store that is inviting to all visitors and the buying public.

We Have Risen Again From the Ashes

In greater strength and determination than ever, and we will open for business on SATURDAY, MAY 9th, at 8 A. M., when we will welcome you all to our new store and will be pleased to see all our old friends and many new ones, whether you buy or not.

It will be our policy, as heretofore, to carry the best of everything in our line for everybody and at all times of the year, and all goods will be sold at reasonable prices. We will guarantee everything we sell and your money back if goods are not found to be as represented. All goods will be marked in plain figures. One price and equal treatment to all, and it will be our aim to make this store the leading establishment of its kind in the county. We have engaged a number of our old clerks and added several new ones, who will be pleased at all times to serve you in a polite and satisfactory manner.

You are respectfully invited to be present, with your friends and neighbors, at our Opening on SATURDAY, MAY 9th, and freely examine our new store and stock of merchandise.

Thanking you all for past favors bestowed upon us, and hoping to be favored in the future with your early and repeated calls and to receive a share of your patronage, we remain Yours as ever,
